THE READING

From <https://breakingnewsenglish.com/1712/171222-selfieccino-0.html>

A cafe started a new way of making coffee, called the "selfieccino". Cafes used to draw hearts and flowers in coffee.

They have taken that to a new level. They put a picture of a customer's face in the coffee. The cafe is in London's top shopping area. It sold over 400 selfieccinos in the first week.

The cafe uses technology to put people's faces on the coffee.

Customers send a picture from their mobile phone. A machine draws the picture on the coffee. This takes about four minutes.

The price is $7.50. The cafe's owner said people want more than good food. They want something they can put on social media.
