THE ARTICLE

From <https://breakingnewsenglish.com/2602/260202-white-teeth-powder.html>

White teeth are widely revered in many countries. Hollywood, advertising, and social media have helped to make ultra-white teeth a must-have, and even an obsession. For decades, people have used peroxide-based chemical whiteners in an attempt to get a perfect set of "pearly whites". However, these chemicals can damage the teeth and gums. Help is now at hand for those of us who have stained or off-white teeth. Researchers in China say they have created an effective teeth-whitening ceramic powder. Researcher Min Xing said it is "a safe, at-home teeth-whitening strategy integrating whitening, enamel repair, and microbiome balance for long-term oral health".

The researchers wrote about how their new powder works. It is activated by electric toothbrush vibrations, which create a small electric field over the teeth. This causes a reaction known as "reactive oxygen species". These are compounds that break down stain-causing molecules. The researchers said their laboratory trials were very promising. They tested human teeth that were artificially discoloured with tea and coffee. After four hours of brushing, there was visible whitening. After 12 hours of cleaning, the teeth were 50 per cent whiter than those brushed with saline. The researchers said the next step is to incorporate the powder into a toothpaste.

WARM-UPS

1. WHITE TEETH: Students walk around the class and talk to other students about white teeth. Change partners often and share your findings.

2. CHAT: In pairs / groups, talk about these topics or words from the article. What will the article say about them? What can you say about these words and your life?

white teeth / Hollywood / chemical whiteners / gums / stained teeth / oral health / electric toothbrush / laboratory trials / tea / coffee / saline / brushing / toothpaste

Have a chat about the topics you liked. Change topics and partners frequently.

3. TEETH WHITENING: Students A strongly believe all of us should try to get whiter teeth; Students B strongly believe the opposite. Change partners again and talk about your conversations.

4. YOUR HEAD: How much do you care about these things? Why? Complete this table with your partner(s). Change partners often and share what you wrote.

	How Much I Care	Why?
White teeth
Wrinkles
Clear skin
Hair
Eyelashes
Facial hair

5. TOOTHPASTE: Spend one minute writing down all of the different words you associate with the word "toothpaste". Share your words with your partner(s) and talk about them. Together, put the words into different categories.

6. THE PERFECT SMILE: Rank these with your partner. Put the best things about having the perfect smile at the top. Change partners often and share your rankings.

- First impressions
- Confidence
- Youthful appearance
- Dating advantages

the researchers wrote about how their new powder works it is activated by electric toothbrush vibrations which create a small electric field over the teeth this causes a reaction known as reactive oxygen species these are compounds that break down staincausing molecules the researchers said their laboratory trials were very promising they tested human teeth that were artificially discoloured with tea and coffee after four hours of brushing there was visible whitening after 12 hours of cleaning the teeth were 50 per cent whiter than those brushed with saline the researchers said the next step is to incorporate the powder into a toothpaste
